Uzbek universities' results of online feedback of developed online courses for blended learning

In the 2019/2020 academic years within the CLASS project, in the specialty 5A130104 - master's degree on Computer linguistics was opened in Urgench State University. In the 2020/2021 academic years within the CLASS project, in the specialty 5A130104 - master's degree on Computer linguistics was opened in other Uzbekistan universities also.

The teaching of subjects are carried out in a blended learning, which includes classroom learning and distance learning.

On the approved teaching programs UrSU teaching staff developed Blended learning-based on online courses and are applying distance learning.

After ending each course, we have feedback to analyze student comments and criticism. Of course, we enjoy reading the positive responses, but feedback should help us how we can improve our courses. We want feedback that is critical, helpful and useful to improving our course design, course quality and students' learning experience.

First, we prepared the questionnaire for the feedback. Feedback questionnaire consist a six group of questions and there are 32 questions:

- Managing and Organizing Your Studies
- Teaching Materials and Learning Activities
- Study Preferences For Learning
- Assessment and Feedback
- The Module Overall
- Study Goals / Next Study Steps

A key factor in gathering 'good' feedback is to develop a 'good' feedback form. We have chosen a feedback form of Likert Scales (Strongly disagree / Disagree / Neither agree nor disagree / Agree / strongly agree). For each question respondent has ability to choose one of this item.

We have learnt a nature of feedback process. We learnt: What kind of data may use? What kind of information about respondents we have to save? What kind of reports do we need?

After learning. We designed and applied questions. The feedback process was anonymous, otherwise it doesn't work.

The UrSU staff members built feedback system for courses. You can acquaint by feedback system and results on following link:
